You can find the datasheets containing the technical properties of our products under the respective article number on our website <http://www.bihl-wiedemann.de/en.html>.

Any other additional technical characteristics only apply after an express written agreement.

For all products and services the latest version of the "General Conditions for the supply of products and services of the Electrical and Electronics Industry (ZVEI)" as well as the added "Retention of Title" are exclusively in force.

In view of the considerable delivery bottlenecks currently occurring worldwide for electronic components (especially power semiconductors), we would like to point out that we reserve the right to correct confirmed delivery dates for self-delivery reasons.

We will inform you immediately as soon as we become aware of possible deviations from the original confirmed date.
